NHD at NARA

The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) has a long association with National History Day (NHD), one of the premier history education programs in the nation. NARA's Southeast Region is now offering workshops to help teachers better prepare their students for NHD competition. These workshops are for teachers with some understanding of the NHD curriculum.

Held at our facility, the workshop will be offered on three different Saturdays this fall: August 22, September 12, and October 17. Cost for the workshop is $20.00 per person.

All sessions will be presented by Education Specialist, Joel Walker. Mr. Walker has been associated with NHD for twelve years. As the state coordinator of Kansas History Day from 1997 to 2000, and the director of National History Day in South Carolina from 2000 to 2009, his programs produced numerous national award recipients. He has judged at every level of the NHD program from school contests to the final round of the national contest at the University of Maryland.

Workshop Schedule

9:00 NHD Theme 2010: Innovation in History

Session deals with a discussion of this coming year's theme. How should the theme be approached? How can it link to your core curriculum? What types of topics will relate to the theme?

10:00 Mining the Wealth: NARA's Online Sources

NARA has multiple websites with sources for your students. Session will especially focus on mastering the Archival Research Catalog (ARC) which has tens of thousands of digital sources.

11:00 Innovation Topics @ the Southeast Region

Our facility is a wealth of primary sources but is not all encompassing. This session will discuss the topics supported by materials within our holdings.

12:00 – 1:00 Lunch is provided.

1:00 Teaching the NHD Paperwork: Process Paper and Bibliography Production

Good judges start with the process paper and the bibliography. This session will deal with this often over-looked aspect of NHD presentation.

2:00 Presentation Technique

Judges have only a few minutes to get the gist of your students' presentations. Students need to be aware of how to strategically place thesis, support, and conclusion to make their point.
